IMAGINARY BEINGS / LAURA BALOMBINI WORKSHOP

Flying to workshops means limiting the materials and tools you'll be able to bring.

Instructor will be providing anything that will not be allowed in a carry on.
(I try to limit baggage claims problems).

Attendees will be sent a list of materials and where to find them including plaster bandages, wood dowels, rags, work gloves.

Bring your collection of found objects ..buttons, charms, doll heads, beads, feathers, scrabble tiles, wings, wheels..those kinds of things. We will be sharing. Sketch journal is useful as well.

Instructor will provide wood bases, glues, metals, sharp tools , paints, sprays, steel wire.

I am always amazed at how diverse and imaginative attendees are with their sculptural Imaginary Beings. After teaching for a week in a beautiful lakeside hotel in Stresa Italy the hotel manager mentioned that the staff had asked if they could come to meet us and see what we had been working on. As the kitchen staff , maids, and gardeners filed in I heard " che bella..che bella". Artists lined up with their work and we all took a collective bow..they had fed us great food and now brought wine and pastries to congratulate us..I am after all Italian..mostly.
